

TODD SAMPSON TO SPEAK AT AIB ALUMNI EVENT IN BRISBANE

On Thursday, August 10, Australian Institute of Business (AIB) will hold a student and alumni event in Brisbane - Boost Your Brain Power - with Todd Sampson, award-winning documentary-maker, television presenter, adventurer and businessman.

Todd will share with AIB students, alumni and guests useful tips he has learnt about boosting brain power from his award-winning documentary series Redesign My Brain, and Discovery International adventure-science series BodyHack, which he wrote, produced and hosted. He will provide guests practical tools, strategies and techniques to improve the brain, taking guests behind the scenes of his remarkable scientific journey.

Joel Abraham, AIB Joint CEO, said, "The AIB community is one of the largest and most active student and alumni groups, and our events give them the opportunity to connect and network with fellow graduates, students, faculty, staff and guests from industry."

Australian Institute of Business is the largest MBA provider in Australia, with fully accredited postgraduate programmes that are globally recognised.

"Our focus is on working adults, which is why we have a highly practical approach to learning and deliver our MBA programme online, enabling students to study anywhere and at any time," Mr Abraham said.

"We have had amazing feedback from our student and alumni community from previous events featuring such speakers as Naomi Simson, Glenn McGrath and Peter Alexander. This event will not only allow our students and alumni to network with their peers in the Brisbane area, but will give them an exclusive opportunity to learn from one of the most influential personalities in Australia, Todd Sampson," Mr Abraham concluded.
