

COPYRIGHT POLICY

Purpose

The Copyright Act 1968 (Cth) and the copyright laws of other countries create obligations and restrictions on the copying of material that is created or owned by others.

The purpose of this policy is to promote awareness of and ensure compliance by the Australian Institute of Business (AIB) with the requirements of the Act. AIB is both a producer and a consumer of copyright materials. Policy matters regarding the production of copyright material by AIB and its staff are covered in AIB's Intellectual Property Policy.

Scope

This policy applies to AIB Staff, officers, contractors, including online learning facilitators and external higher degree research supervisors, and students. They are required to comply with and ensure that they do not infringe the copyright of others. The focus of this policy is on copyright for educational purpose as per Australian legislation obligations in Australia but also observant of copyright laws of other countries.

Students have rights under section 40 of the Act to fair dealing for the purpose of Research or study, and AIB has rights to copy "reasonable portions" under the Part IVA Statutory Licence for educational purposes. This licence does not apply to AIB marketing materials because marketing is not an 'educational purpose'. Nor does it cover the copying and distribution of articles, such as in newspapers or other press about AIB.

Definitions

Unless otherwise defined in this document, all capitalised terms are defined in the glossary.
